

If we let these people call for up to 18 months, we might as well just forget the whole thing and save the money trying to enforce the "No Call" protection.